

A grand, ornate interior of a mansion. The scene is a large, circular atrium with a high ceiling. In the center, a staircase with a decorative wrought-iron railing leads to an upper level. A large, framed painting hangs on the wall above the staircase. The atrium is supported by several tall, white columns. In the foreground, a round wooden table with a decorative base holds a vase of pink flowers. The floor is made of large, light-colored tiles, and a large, patterned rug is placed under the table. The lighting is warm and elegant.
